DRIVE ON SCARPE CARRIES BRITISH TO HINDENBURG LINE; ARTHUR LANKEY, DESERTER, CAUGHT FAST ASLEEP IN BARN

SIX-FOOT MOUNTAINEER IS REFUSED A HAVEN AT HIS HOME BY PATRIOTIC MOTHER

Since Then Lankey Who Says he Deserted Because he Feared Death and Had Been Taught to Fear it, had Skulked in Woods by Day and Slept in Barns, Living on Garden Vegetables he Stole,

HANDCUFFED HIMSELF TO OFFICER AT COMMAND

After hiding for nearly a month in the woods about his home, living on what he could gather from the gardens of the community and sleeping in barns or in the open, taking to the woods generally during the day in fear of being recognized, Arthur Lankey, a deserter from Camp Meade, was arrested Saturday night while asleep in the barn of Charles Brown, near Acme, which is the home of Lankey. He was taken to Mount Pleasant and the authorities at Camp Meade notified.

The arrest of Lankey was under somewhat unusual circumstances. Glenn Miller and Tony Schacate, of Mount Pleasant, had been to the mountains in an automobile trip. On the return Miller saw a man he took to be Lankey sneaking about the barn. The two drove on to Mount Pleasant and Miller reported the matter to Burgess Samuel P. Stevens. The burgess swore Miller in as a deputy and the two started back to Acme. It was dark when they reached the spot.

An inspection of the place showed but two means of ingress or egress. Placing Schacate on guard at the mow hole Miller crept in through the barn door and then up into the mow, lighting his way with an electric flashlight. There on the hay lay a strapping big fellow fast asleep. Throwing the light into his face Miller prodded the sleeper in the ribs with his revolver. Taken by surprise Lankey made no effort to escape and admitted his identity.

At a command from Miller the deserter handcuffed himself to the officer and they made their way down the mow and into the automobile. Schacate drove the machine back to Mount Pleasant and the prisoner was placed in the lockup.

When seen yesterday by a Courier reporter Lankey seemed to be ready to return to camp though he appeared to be in deadly fear of the fate that may befall him. He deserted, he said, because of his fear of death in battle. From childhood up he had been taught to fear death and be prepared for the hereafter.

Lankey said he left camp on July 21, having secured a pass to town. There, he said, he got drunk and started for home. Arriving at Greensburg he boarded a trolley car for Mount Pleasant and rode the remainder of the way in a motor bus. His arrival attracted no unusual attention. On arriving at home he was warmly greeted by his mother, who supposed he was on a furlough.

When the truth dawned upon her, however, she ordered him from the place, Lankey said, refusing to shelter him under her roof.

"I'm proud of her for that," Lankey said.

Fearing to return to Camp Lankey said he hid in the woods about the home place living on what he could gather from gardens and fields, as well as berries found in the woods. He cooked his meals in the woods and lived fairly well. At nights he ventured to a barn to sleep. He washed his clothes at a mountain stream.

Lankey said he would have given himself up but he was afraid if he returned he would be shot. He had been told that was the fate of deserters, he said.

The prisoner is a strapping big fellow, more than six feet tall and weighing 175 pounds or more.

Lankey's father is dead.

Local Board No. 2, Connellsville, through which Lankey was sent to camp, was notified of the arrest.

Lankey was arrested as a slacker at the time he was called to enter service when he failed to appear.

CORPORAL MERRILL McFADDEN WOUNDED

Merrill McFadden, who distinguished himself recently by the capture of four Germans, unaided, has been severely wounded, according to a message received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McFadden of Pennsville, from the War Department. He was among those who fell on August 4, the message says. Corporal McFadden is a member of the 58th Machine Gun company.

PERRY BOY IN FRANCE AFTER LONG VOYAGE.

His voyage overseas was a long [illegible] one, says Francis A. McIntyre of Perryopolis, writing from Base Hospital No. 41, France, to his mother, Mrs. J. K. McIntyre of Perryopolis. In part he says:

"Well, I have at last landed safely in France and am in the best of health. It was a long trip. (The censor deleted the time occupied in passage.) I saw quite a bit of Ireland and never will forget it. It was the first land I had seen for (deleted) long days, and was getting sick of the water. The trip across was uneventful but quite a few anxious minutes now and then. The English people gave us quite a sendoff when we left there—band music, cheers, banners bearing Some Army, Thanks for the Help, etc. They certainly show their appreciation, especially the French people. I am going to town tonight. I shall take a French and English dictionary with me and I think I shall get along all right."

After describing the place in which he is located, Francis continues: "I was acting corporal of the guard last night and between the hours of 1 and 3 I could hear the big guns talking to one another."

On the way across the English channel Francis says he met a young man he graduated with, whose name he does not give. He was the first acquaintance he saw, he says. "Write me as often as you can," he concludes, "for mail is going to be a wonderful thing over here. I will have many things to tell you when I eat my Christmas dinner with you Christmas a year."

"KATY" COLLINS HIT BY AN AERIAL BOMB

James E. Collins, reported Saturday among the members of Company D, 110th Infantry, as severely wounded was the victim of an aerial bomb, according to a letter received by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Collins of East Fayette street from a nurse at the hospital where Collins, who is better known as "Katy," is a patient. He was not wounded at the hospital but while in action, it is understood. The wound is in the foot and from the

NINETY-THREE 21RS REGISTERED HERE BY LOCAL BOARDS

DISTRICT NO. 5 HAS 43

Sending Out of Questionnaires to the Men Enrolled Will be the Next Task Confronting the Draft Officials; Men to be Called Soon.

Local Boards for Districts Nos. 2 and 5 had a total of 93 registrants of youths who had become 21 years old since June 5 last, on Saturday. The two boards had expected to total about 100 registrants and fell only a few short of that number. Orthodox Jews, who were granted permission by the government to wait until today to registering may swell this total a little.

Of the 93 men, 50 registered in District No. 2 including Connellsville and vicinity and 43 were from the surrounding townships, registering in District No. 5.

Local Board for District No. 5 was the first in the entire state to make a report on be registration, calling Harrisburg by phone, and setting a record. The board was second to report in the June registration.

Local Board No. 2 had one colored registrant and two aliens. Local Board No. 5 had one colored man and four aliens. Questionnaires have been sent out to all registrants of both boards and will be filled out immediately.

HUN LOSSES IN ALLIED OFFENSIVE VERY HEAVY

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—British troops attacked this morning in the Scarpe sector, east of Arras, and good progress is being made, according to the official statement issued at the war office today.

The British positions southeast of Mory and west of Croisilles have been improved in spite of a heavy rain which is falling on the battle field, the statement says.

Savreuill, a mile and a half northeast of Bapaume, has been captured and the British have advanced beyond the village, the statement says.

The British lines have been advanced slightly astride the Somme and progress has been made in the direction of Maricourt, four miles northeast of Bray, the statement says.

Strong German counter attacks north and south of Bapaume have been repulsed by the British, according to the official statement.

This morning's attack was launched between the Scarpe river at Sampoux and the heights northeast of Neuville-Vitasse.

In a few hours the British made an advance of two miles on a front of four miles according to a dispatch received here from the battlefront.

Monchy-le-Preux, Duemappe and Wancourt, a little less than five miles southeast of Arras have been taken in today's attacks. Farther south the British have taken Mory and made progress to the southeast of the village.

In the battle area, south of the Somme, General Debeney's French army has captured Fresnoy-les-Roye about three miles north of Roye according to today's dispatches.

General Mangin's army also has made a slight advance between the Aillette and the Aisne. Four hundred prisoners were taken by this army yesterday.

Fighting is reported proceeding at Heninel.

The line of battle, starting with Sampoux on the Scarpe river, follows: Monchy-le-Preux, Duemappe, Wancourt, Hennel, Croiselles, east of Mory, Savreuil, Azesnez, Enucourt-le-Abbaye, Martinquich, east of Bazentin-le-Petit, Manetz and Carnoy, and then proceeds to the Somme, just to the west of Maricourt. There is little change south of the Somme, except that the British line has been improved to the east of Chuidnes.

The towns of Monchy-le-Preux, Duemappe and Wancourt were on the Hindenburg line as it stood prior to the German drive on March 21. In this sector the Germans drove ahead slightly but were held up after the second day of the fighting, and after that time could not get near Arras.

This morning's attack apparently was between the Cojeul river and the Scarpe and adds about four miles to the length of the battlefront.

GERMAN MORALE AT LOW EBB BECAUSE OF DEFEATS

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE VESLE, Sunday, Aug. 25.—German soldiers believe that Germany is not planning any more offensives because of the manpower shortage, according to one of a party of seven of a German patrol captured by the Americans early Sunday east of Fismes. The soldier, who was a former bank employe and the owner of a Berlin restaurant, said the soldiers no longer had any enthusiasm for war. Most of those with whom he came in contact believe the war would soon end.

The prisoner had been fighting three years and declared he was thoroughly tired of it. He said the soldiers understood that the German losses during the recent Allied offensive had been very great. These reports were credited by the soldiers and were having a demoralizing effect. He said he knew of one division of 15,000 men which had been reduced to less than 1,000. He did not know what became of the men.

BRITISH GIVEN CREDIT FOR WALLOPING HUNS

PARIS, Aug. 26.—The Allied high command had great hopes in the British army and the latest news from the front shows that the hope will not be disappointed, says L'Heure. It declares that the British have obliged the German staff to admit defeat.

WOUND OF PRIVATE JEFFRIES OF COMPANY D CAUSED BY BOMB FROM HUN PLANE; LOSES ARM

According to a letter received by Mrs. L. B. Jeffries of Percy, from a Red Cross worker in Paris, the wound sustained by her son, Private Edgar Jeffries of Company D, resulted from the explosion of a bomb dropped by a German airplane, and were of such a nature that it was necessary to amputate his right arm.

The writer of the letter, who is Caroline Lee Hendricks, is engaged at the Red Cross offices in Paris, spends her spare time in visiting the hospitals to cheer up the wounded. Her letter, which bears testimony to the pluck and bravery of Private Jeffries and has done much to allay the fears of his mother and friends, follows:

"I am writing for your boy who is here in Paris in R. C. military hospital No. 6, Rue Puccini Hospital No. 2 (Dr. Blake). He was wounded in his right arm and it had to be amputated. He is otherwise all right and will probably be walking around in a day or so.

"I have just washed his hair and face and he says he feels quite fine. He certainly is a plucky boy, shows such wonderful spirit. He was lying in the woods resting up for another charge when they noticed an airplane taking observations. Later other planes appeared and dropped bombs and it was then that his arm was hurt. He is wonderfully brave and does not complain at all when the wound is being dressed. A Red Cross man was here in the ward this afternoon playing his violin and it certainly did make your boy and all the others feel a whole lot better. He wants me to come in again and write to his girl.

"I am working here in the Red Cross offices and stop in at the hospital once in a while to try and do something for the boys. Your boy was wounded on the first day of August and received attention in a short time. Of course he doesn't know where he will be sent and I don't know myself whether he will be sent home before long or not. In writing him it probably will be best to address him as usual, care of his regiment. You certainly have a right to be proud of him. He sends his dearest love."

DICKERSON RUN MAN ARRESTED FOR AN ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO WRECK A TROOP TRAIN

Oscar C. House, 23 years old, of Dickerson Run, was arrested Saturday morning and taken to Pittsburg, as the result of an investigation made by special agents of the Department of Justice, assisted by Baltimore & Ohio and Western Maryland railroad detectives, of an alleged attempt to wreck a troop train at Greenwood tower early Friday morning.

After being taken to Pittsburg House was arraigned before United States Commissioner Roger Knox on two charges of attempting to wreck a train under the sabotage act. Commissioner Knox committed him to the Allegheny county jail for a further hearing today.

According to the information received by the Baltimore & Ohio police, House broke into the tower, which is located at the north end of the long viaduct across Herd bottom. He threw an automatic switch, it is said a short time before a troop train carrying draftees to a southern cantonment was due to arrive at that point. After throwing the switch it is alleged House attempted to send a bogus train order to side track the troop train.

The discovery that the switch had been thrown was made by Miss Lillian McCohan, operator in the signal tower about one mile from Greenwood. The signals work automatically between the towers. Miss McCohan attempted to call the tower by 'phone. She was unable to get an answer and hurriedly called Floyd E. Friend, yardmaster at the Greenwood yards. Friend in turn called the office of the supervising dispatcher at Connellsville and detectives were rushed to the tower.

After a search of several hours they found House, and took him into custody.

tone of "Katy's" letter to his sister, Mrs. Margaret Steck, it is a severe one, though not necessarily serious. Collins is a son of the late John Collins, an engineer on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The father, also known as "Katy," was killed at Glencoe on New Year's Day, 1902, when train, No. 6, went over Roddy's c near Glencoe. "Katy," the you is regarded as one of the livel members of Company — and one given to keeping up the spirits of his comrades. Collins is in the same hospital as Sergeant Wilbert N. Stillwagon who was being treated there. Base Hospital No. 3, when the Germans bombed the place on August 1, inflicting a second wound.

"BILL" STRUBBLE WRITES TO PARENTS.

In a letter received by Mrs. J. E. Struble from her son, William Struble, with the 110th Medical Detachment in France, he says he was with Lloyd J. Shaw, Walter Bixler, Frank Freeman and Frank E. Beatty, who are thought by their relatives to have been captured. The four were reported missing in action, and later Bixler was located in a prison camp.

Struble says: "I suppose you have heard about Shaw and the others by this time. The four and myself were working together at the time but I was with one of our captains." He says he received a big bunch of Courliers. He also adds that he is "not yet crummy, but water is getting scarce."

In another part of the letter he says he is bunking with Scott Lysinger and also says to have a big dinner ready by the next Fourth of July of as he will be home by that time.

GETTING THE GERMANS LIKE HUNTING RABBITS

How Private J. P. Zimmer, a member of Company I, Greensburg, and son of Mrs. Mary Jane Zimmer of Uniontown, captured six Germans unassisted, is told in a letter received by the mother Saturday. Private Zimmer was in a hospital with a sprained back at the time the letter was written. He says:

"I was out on the lines only about three and a half days. I went over the top four times. I killed two Dutch and got six prisoners. I had gone into the woods too far and got lost from the rest of my company when I was confronted with six Germans. When they saw me they surrounded me and threw up their hands, yelling 'kamerad!' 'kamerad!' I disarmed them and started to return when the other members of the company opened fire on us thinking more Germans were advancing. I yelled but it wasn't any use so I had to run out where they could see me. Then it was O. K. We put the prisoners to carrying wounded off the field under shell fire, which was heavy. It is just like hunting rabbits here. You have to scare the Dutch out of the bushes before you can get them. Sometimes we have to bomb them out of their dugouts. Surely it is great sport. I think we will be home soon."

THOMAS DAVIDSON ORDERED TO AERONAUTICS SCHOOL.

Thomas Davidson, son of Mrs. Jean Halstead Davidson of South Pittsburg street, has received orders to report at the United States School of Military Aeronautics, Princeton University, on September 7, which is just eight months following his enlistment in the aviation section of the Army in Cincinnati on January 7. Delay in calling recruits to this service has resulted from the failure to produce airplanes on anything like the schedule that had been laid down.

Emphatically Asserts Worn Out, Lagging Men Can Quickly Become Vigorous and Full of Ambition

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

Don't blame the man who is perpetually tired; his blood needs more red corpuscles and his brain and nerves are craving for food.

Given the right kind of medicine, any tired-out, inactive, lagging fellow can quickly be made into a real live, energetic and even ambitious man.

So says a student of the nervous system who advises all men and women who feel worn out and who find it hard to get up ambition enough to take a regular job to get a package of Bio-feron at any druggist.

This is the new discovery that pharmacists are recommending because it is not expensive and speedily puts vigor and ambition into people who despaired of ever amounting to anything in life.

People whose nerves have been wrecked by too rapid living, too much tobacco or alcohol, have regained their old-time confidence and energy in less than two weeks.

No matter from what cause your nerves went back on you; no matter how run down, nervous or tired out you are, get an original package of Bio-feron at once. Take two tablets after each meal and one before bedtime—seven a day for seven days—then one after each meal till all are gone.

Then if you still lack ambition; if your nerves are not steady and you haven't the energy that red-blooded, keen-minded men possess, your purchase money will be gladly returned.

Note to Physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feron, it is printed on every package. Here it is: Lecithin; Calcium Glycerophosphate; Iron Peptonate; Manganese Peptonate; Ext. Nux Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phenolphthalein; Oleoresin Capsicum; Kola.

SCOTTDALE IS TO HAVE PEACH PIT CAMPAIGN SOON

Y. M. C. A. Will be Made Headquarters for Their Collection.

USED FOR GAS MASK CARBON

Robert Skemp, Representative of the Gas Mask Division of the Government, Appeals to Everybody to Save the Pits and Turn Them In; Notes.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, Aug. 26.—Robert Skemp, of this place, who represents the gas mask department for the government, has appealed to Charles D. Flagle, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., to make that place the headquarters for the gathering of peach pits. "We are all consoled," Mr. Skemp said, "by the knowledge that the gas masks and respirators are proving efficient in the field. An especially good carbon for the canisters is produced from peach pits and we are setting out on a national campaign for saving peach pits. When the movement reaches Scottdale I want you to make the Y. M. C. A. headquarters for collecting same. If the movement does not reach you through one of the publicity bureaus, start it yourself for me and interest the Boy Scouts."

The gas mask or face piece is connected by a flexible hose to a tin canister which is carried on the breast in a knapsack. The canister contains the means of applying the three principles of neutralization, filtration and absorption. The carbon is the absorbent and nut shell carbon, properly activated is the best. Peach pits come under the head of nut-shell carbons. When the quantity is enough to warrant it, bags will be sent in which to ship the peach pits. Mr. Skemp is in New York now working on this mission.

Scottdale, in a very short time, will have a campaign on in full for the collection of peach pits.

Dinner for Soldiers.

Ray Trout gave a dinner at his Pittsburg street home for the following boys who will soon be called into the army: George Murphy, James Murphy, Clarence Durstine, Joseph O'Hara, Joseph Kennedy, Roy Eicher, Harry Engle, Jos. Knowles, William Miller and Frank Browning. A very nicely appointed dinner was served them.

Daughter Born.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kunkle, who live in the Eicher and Graft flats, are the proud parents of a daughter, born at the Memorial hospital, Mount Pleasant, Sunday.

Eye Burned.

Seventeen Register.

Up until 5 o'clock Saturday evening 17 men had registered at the Y. M. C. A. as those becoming 21 years old since June.

Child Dies.

Stella Surnack, aged eight months, died at her Everson home on Saturday. Funeral services were held Sunday morning at the St. Joseph's church. Interment was made in the St. Jozeph's cemetery.

Will Hold Lawn Fete.

The Everson fire department will hold a lawn fete for the benefit of the department on Friday, August 30. There will be a water battle at 7 P. M.

Lays Freak Egg.

An egg with the face of a clock is on exhibition in S. A. Lowe's drug store window. It was laid by a hen belonging to Rev. H. S. Myers.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reed and son, John Irwin, of Nebraska, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. John Reed, west of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Myers of Youngstown, O., are visiting the former's parents, Rev. and Mrs. H. S. Myers, and Scottdale friends. Mrs. Myers' brother, Howard S. Newmyer, who was in Base Hospital No. 61, is on his way overseas.

EMPLOYERS ASKED TO AID IN REDUCING LABOR TURNOVER

Will Increase Available Supply of Workers and Stop Waste of Time in Going to New Jobs.

Employers of labor throughout the country are being asked by the Federal Employment Service to lend their cooperation in reducing the labor turnover which has taken place on so large scale in the last twenty months. The cutting down of the turnover will increase by a considerable percentage the available supply of workers, and put a stop to the waste of time incident to traveling from one point to another, the Employment Service says. While government control has checked the rushing of workers from one city to another by about 50 per cent, yet the turnover is still of such proportions as to occupy the serious attention of every branch of the Federal Employment Service. Internal conditions in plants where the turnover has been large are being studied in close detail by experts from the Employment Service, and the assistance of the employers enlisted to eliminate factors and causes that have caused disturbance, unrest or wanderlust.

The administrative officers of the service in Washington are going to expedite the national machinery for mobilizing and distributing the supply of unskilled labor throughout the country. They will also lend their efforts to speeding up the war work, and to putting an end as far as possible to the employment of workers in occupations which are not contributing directly to winning the war.

The Washington officials of the service will engage in conference with the state representatives, as well as the community committees whose duty it is to look after local problems and adjust local differences between employers and employes. This work on their part will continue until well into the fall.

One of the things to which the Employment Service is giving serious consideration is that of the prospective draft system. This change is expected to take a large number of men from war industries at this time, and to disarrange some of the work which has already been accomplished by the board.

Record of First Submarine.

The submarine—or something very like it—appears to have been in existence as long ago as the middle of the sixteenth century, if we may trust the testimony of Olaus Magnus, bishop of Upsala. This right-reverend prelate has it that such vessels were used by pirates in Gruntland for the purpose of "making great holes in passing merchant vessels." He asserts that the had seen two of them exhibited in the western porch of the cathedral of St. Asloe.

NO PEACE WITHOUT PUNISHMENT

"We cannot seek to escape the horrors of war for ourselves by laying them up for our children," Premier Lloyd George declared in his recent message to the people of the British Empire to stand firm for victory. Which reminds us that we Americans are joined with England, France, Italy and all the allied nations in a fight to a finish against Prussianism. There can be no halting, no turning back until Germany, to quote an expression of Colonel Roosevelt, is "licked to a frazzle."

Should the time come, as it may, when a certain element of our citizenship, if not also in official life, which one advocated a "peace without victory," even suggests a softening of the punishment to be meted out to the Hun barbarians, the great bulk of American people will rise in the might of their indignation to administer the necessary rebuke.

As we become more and more familiar with the depth of depravity to which the military monsters of Germany have sunk; of the fiendish atrocities they commit, without longer pleading the flimsy pretext of "military necessity," the more determined do all patriotic, justice-loving people become that the war must end only with the complete destruction of Hohenzollernism. That we cannot, must not, parley with the kaiser and his beelzebubian staff of militarists, and those who support them or condone their offenses against God and humanity, is certain. A peace by compromise would be the "supremest tragedy of the world."

The mawkish assertion that "we have no quarrel with the German people" no longer finds acceptance except with the timid, weak and spineless, who would have peace at any price. A people that will abet, or even tolerate, German war methods becomes joint conspirators and participators in all the hellishness of junkerism, making them one and the same with the authors of it.

The great controlling motive for human activity ought to be to make the world better for posterity. It cannot be made better until Germanism, as typified by the brute of Berlin, is crushed in this war. The great juggernaut of war is rolling irresistibly on. It must be pushed to the very gates of Berlin, or farther if necessary, to convict the German people, from the Kaiser down, in their own conscience of their bloodguiltiness and of their boundless sins. These murderers, looters and ravagers must be punished with a severity in keeping with their diabolical crimes. "A Germany unpunished will be a Germany unrepentant."

FROM WHOM THEY SEEK DELIVERANCE

When the House of Representatives assembled the other day the members who were in their places joined reverently with Henry N. Couden, the blind chaplain, in the following prayer:

"Good Lord, deliver us from the hyphenated American, the pro-German, the spy, the profiteer, the pacifist, the slacker and all who would retard the prosecution of the war for human rights, human happiness and the establishment of a permanent world-wide peace."

Although not specifically named as among those from whom deliverance is sought, the classes named by the chaplain very plainly include vocally patriotic editors and others who slop over in mushy compliments one day, then the next speak disparagingly of and cast contemptuous slurs upon service flags and other marks of honor and respect paid our soldiers, living and dead.

Who do more to "retard the prosecution of the war" than they who, from motives of jealousy or selfishness—which are but forms of pro-Germanism in these days—would withhold any tribute or deserving recognition to the boys who have given proof that they are ready and willing to give their all that the war may be won?

From such even Democratic Congressmen pray to be delivered! How much more fervently, then, should the "Mere Kids" and others who have answered their country's call, seek the same deliverance?

The "Mere Kids" and others from Connellsville, who are wearing Uncle Sam's Uniform, will need very much more substantial proof than the editor's perfervid declamation that "the news has undying and unalterable honor" for every Boy who has joined The Colors.

The industrial importance of the Connellsville region has received new and very significant recognition in the proposal of the government to aid in financing an enlargement of the facilities of the West Penn Power company.

All the mothers of the boys of Company D may not express themselves in just the same way as "Mother" Coulter, who says she would not be happy if she did not know that her boys "were Over There fighting to free the world from tyranny," but deep in their hearts they all feel as she does.

German prisoners are reported as talking very freely about the utter hopelessness of their cause. The less attention we pay to this form of peace propaganda, and the more weight and force we give to our blows, the sooner the whole Potsdam gang will be on their knees in dead earnest.

Since the Huns have bombed hospitals where wounded soldiers of Company D were being nursed, we can well imagine the grimness with which other members of the 110th will exact full penalties for such fiendish and merciless atrocities.

Does our contemporary wish us to correctly inform the public as to the reasons why it is not complying with the order of the War Industries Board to conserve paper by reducing its issue to six pages at least three days a week, as The Courier is doing?

Liberty Loan Primer

The Biggest Anti-Hun Drive.

That was some drive which Marshal Foch directed against the Huns when he thrust them backward from the Marne and sent them skurrying to their new line of defense along the Aisne. Never for a moment did the Hun-hungry poilous and Yanks stop their dashing smashing attack; never for a moment did they give the big butcherers a breathing spell; for a moment was there threat any one of them of anything but putting just as many Germans as possible permanently out of business. It was a world thrilling exhibition of allied valor, stimulated by typical Yankee punch.

It gave the Crown Prince his most decisive defeat of the war. It set the Prussian-dominated press of all Germany to camouflaging the situation. It shook the German army morale and sent the first thrill of apprehension up and down the spine of the whole German empire. It probably intimated to Kaiser Bill that after all the Lord was not altogether holding up his end of the self-appointed partnership. And it put new spirit, new hope, new confidence into every war-weary Allied heart.

It was a magnificent thrust, but the biggest anti-Hun drive of them all the one that will mean more to the Allied cause than the last victory of the Marne, that will pave the way for more tremendous onslaughts than ever, will begin on the 28th of September—the Fourth Liberty Loan drive.

We stay-at-homes could not participate in that glorious Marne victory, but we can, every mother's son of us, take part in this coming drive. We can make our dollars fight for us. We can show the world at large, our boys in the trenches, and the German empire in particular, that the heart of America is in this fight to the limit.

And if our loyalty is genuine, if our patriotism is simon pure, if our sense of duty is thoroughly alive, we will do this.

Early we will begin laying aside for our next bond purchase.

We will save as they struggle, lend as they fight.

And we will buy early.

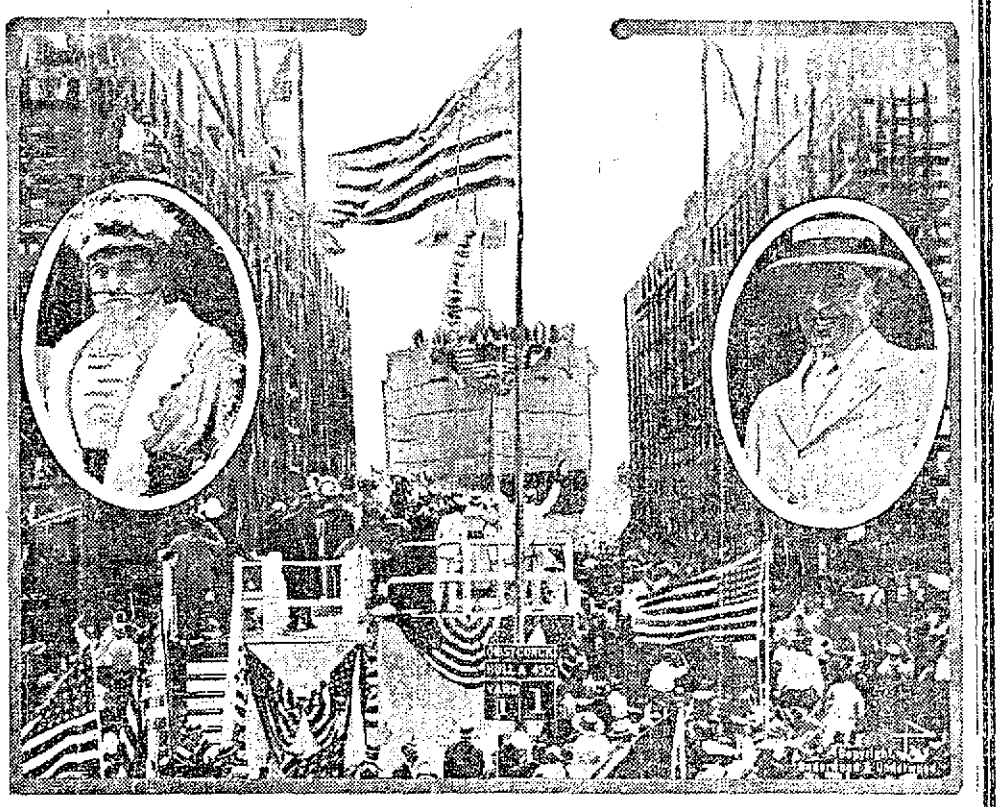
FOOLS' PARADISE.

The German people live in hope because they're fed on faked up dope. The public prints don't dare to tell if battles are not going well. A German army meets defeat, and pulls a panicky retreat. About a million Huns are slain, and stacked, to mildew in the rain. "Gdsfish!" we cry, "the startled Teuts will shrivel now, you bet your boots! When they have heard of this defeat, and see their armies can be beat, they'll shed all kinds of scalding brine, and doubtless will take in their sign." Alas, they do not hear the news, and so escape a siege of blues. The war lords call the printers in, and say, "Announce that we will win! Of course we dropped our guns and ran, but that was Ludenbinden's plan—a masterstroke of strategy, as all of you will later see. Go, print a lot of cheerful bunk, and if you hint the luck is punk, we'll back you up against a shed, and drill you with a ton of lead." The printers then get out their sheets, and make big triumphs of defeats. The people read, and say, "G, Whiz, how wonderful our army is! Our kaiser undefeated dwells, and Hinddendorf is wearing bells!" Some day the Teuts are bound to wake, and see how they've been fed on fake, how they've been made a kaiser's joke—and then, perhaps, there'll be some smoke.

PRESIDENT AND WIFE AT FIRST HOG ISLAND LAUNCHING



The first ship fabricated at the Hog Island yard was launched in the presence of President Wilson and other government officials. The vessel, one of 110 identical 7,500-ton, 11½-knot cargo carriers to be built at the biggest shipyard in the world, was christened the Quisteonck by Mrs. Wilson, that having been the name by which the Indians knew Hog Island.

THE JOY OF BEING IN IT.

Oh, it's I that's glad I'm livin' an' a sharin' in the fight,
An' the blood o' me is tingling with the rapture o' delight:
For the little tasks of peace times didn't wake me open-eyed
An' the safe an' easy pathways left my soul unsatisfied,
Then I heard the call to service an' I heard the clash o' steel
An' I'm here at Chateau Thierry doin' something that is real.

Here's the biggest job that's happened since the human race began:
We are makin' this world over as a decent place for man.
Here's a struggle with a purpose, here's a battle with a goal,
An' I'm mighty glad I'm in it—it's the thing that I should ask,
To be one o' them partaking in the world's supremest task.

Oh, I'm mighty glad I'm in it—an' I'm giving it you straight—
Glad I wasn't born too early, glad I didn't come too late;
An' I thank the God above me that He sent me down to earth
At a time when men were doin' something real to prove their worth.
Now I'm here at Chateau Thierry where the tides o' battle rage

EARLY AUTUMN ARRIVALS

The material for women's, misses' and children's raiment, early autumn styles, are coming in, in fact our stores already have a fairly good supply. It is rather hard to get interested in autumn wearing apparel this sort of weather, yet mothers know the necessity of it. School opening days are approaching, the children must be prepared for that event; that's why it is necessary to plan and buy so early. Your attention is specially called to the nice lines of early autumn dress goods for misses and children, to the complete line of ribbons, hosiery, footwear, headwear, and please notice the prices. You will be impressed with the reasonableness of them. All classes of goods now have a tendency to advance in price, domestic dry goods are included. They are at the present time higher than many people have ever known them to be, yet there is a likelihood of them going even higher, and it will be prudent to make your early autumn purchases at once. There are many other school necessities for boys and girls, and there are many lines of domestic dry goods for the entire family now on sale at our stores. It is to your interest to inspect—investigate—buy!

The Kaiser as I Knew Him For Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

As I entered the kaiser's bedroom he was standing in the center of the room, fully attired in an army gray uniform, but without his sword. He looked more haggard than I had ever seen him, except once in 1915. Lack of sleep and physical pain were two things with which he had had very little experience, and they certainly showed their effects very plainly.

He didn't seem to be in the best of humor but greeted me cordially enough and shook hands.

"In all my life, Davis," he said, "I have never suffered so much pain."

I expressed my sorrow and started to improvise a dental chair out of an upholstered armchair on which I placed some pillows and, as the kaiser sat down, he laughingly remarked:

"Look here, Davis, you've got to do something for me. I can't fight the whole world, you know, and have a toothache!"

When I was through and his pain was relieved, his spirits seemed to revive appreciably, and he explained why it was he was so anxious to have his tooth trouble removed as quickly as possible.

"I must go down to Italy, Davis," he said, "to see what my noble troops have accomplished. My gracious, what we have done to them down there! Our offensive at Riga was just a feint. We had advertised our intended offensive in Italy so thoroughly that the Italians thought we couldn't possibly intend to carry it through. For three months it was common talk in Germany, you remember, that the great offensive would start in October, and so the Italians believed it was all a bluff and when we advanced on Riga they were sure of it. They thought we were so occupied there that we could pay no attention to them, and so we caught them napping!"

The kaiser's face fairly beamed as he dwelt on the strategy of his generals and the successful outcome of their Italian campaign.

"For months Italy had been engaged in planting her big guns on the mountain-tops and gathering mountains of ammunition and supplies and food and hospital supplies in the valleys below, in preparation for their twelfth Isonzo offensive.

"We let them go ahead and waited patiently for the right moment. They thought that their contemplated offensive must inevitably bring our weaker neighbor to her knees and force her to make a separate peace!" By "our weaker neighbor" the kaiser, of course, referred to Austria, and how accurate was his information regarding Italy's expectations and how easily they might have been realized were subsequently revealed by the publication of that famous letter from Kaiser Karl to Prince Sextus.

"And then," the kaiser went on, "when their great offensive was within a week of being launched we broke through their lines on a slope 3,000 feet high, covered with snow, where they couldn't bring up their reserves or new guns, and we surrounded them!

"We took practically everything they possessed—food enough to feed our entire army without calling upon our own supplies at all. Never before had our armies seen such an accumulation of ammunition. I must certainly go down to see it.

"We cut off their northern retreat and, as they swung their army to the south, we captured 60,000 of them up to their knees in the rice fields. One of the great mistakes they made was in carrying their civilian refugees with them—clogging their narrow roads and impeding the retreat of their soldiers. We had taken possession of their most productive regions, and their retreat was through territory which yielded them nothing. Just think of that retreating army thrown upon the already impoverished inhabitants of that section. Why, they'll starve to death!

"Everywhere we went we found their big guns abandoned. In one small village we came upon a gun decorated with flowers and surmounted with a portrait of Emperor Franz Josef. It had been put there by the Italian inhabitants of the village to show their happiness at being released at last from the yoke of the intolerable Italian lawyer government! How terribly the Italians must have treated them! Italy will never get over this defeat. This was real help from God! Now, we've got the allies!" and he struck his left hand with his right with great force to emphasize his apparent conviction that the turning point in the war had been reached with Italy's collapse.

That the kaiser now regarded himself and his armies as invincible I felt, and I feared that the success in Italy would be followed at the first favorable opportunity by a gigantic offensive on the western front.

Indeed, on a subsequent occasion, when he called at my office for further treatment, and again referred to the Italian triumph, he remarked: "If our armies could capture 300,000 Italians—and those 300,000 might just as well be dead as far as Italy is concerned—we can do the same thing against our enemies on the west!"

This was one of the interviews I was so anxious to report to the representatives of the American intelligence department at our legation in Copenhagen and, later on, when I finally arrived in that city, I related it in great detail to them. I remained in Copenhagen eleven days and during the greater part of that time I was being interviewed by one or another of the representatives of our intelligence department. Exactly two months later, on March 21, the western offensive broke out as I had feared.

I called at Potsdam a day or two later to attend the kaiser again, and found him still in the same triumphant mood, and so anxious was he to get down to Italy that he called at my office three times that week to enable me to complete my work on his affected tooth.

On November 26 the kaiser called at my office for what proved to be his last sitting. I had received word on the 20th that my pass for America had been granted and that I could leave on the 30th, and I accordingly told the kaiser that it was my intention to leave for Copenhagen on that day.

I explained that I was completely run down—and I certainly looked it—and that it was necessary for me to get to Copenhagen anyway, so that I could get in touch with America regarding a porcelain tooth patent which had been granted to me in July, 1915, but which a large dental company was seeking to wrest from me. The patent authorities had delayed action because of the fact that I resided in an enemy country.

On the 28th I received a letter from the court chamberlain stating that the president of police had made it known to the kaiser that I had applied for a pass to America and demanding an explanation as to why I had told the kaiser that I had planned to go to Copenhagen and had not mentioned America.

I at once replied that it was indeed my intention, as I had told the kaiser, to go to Copenhagen, but that I had applied for the pass to America because I wanted to be in a position to go there if my patent affairs demanded it and I expressed the hope that nothing would be done to interfere with the pass which had been promised me for the 30th.

Nevertheless, the 30th came around and the pass didn't, and the boat which sailed from Copenhagen on December 7, which I had planned to take, sailed without me.

Again the weary weeks followed each other without the slightest intimation from anyone that I would ever be allowed to leave. Indeed, I had fully made up my mind that the authorities had decided to keep me in Berlin for reasons of their own and that nothing I could do could mend the situation, when, early in January, I received the joyous tidings that I could leave January 21-23. I left on the 22d, and as far as I have since been able to ascertain I was the last American male to leave Germany with the consent of the officials.

CHAPTER III.

The Kaiser's Dual Personality.

If I had come away from Germany in January, 1914, instead of in January, 1918, and had written the impression I had gained of the kaiser in the ten years I had known him, what a false picture I would have painted of the man as he really is!

It would have been a picture of a man who in general appearance and bearing was every inch an emperor and yet who could exhibit all the courtesy, affability and gentleness of the most democratic gentleman, a man soft of eye and kindly in expression, a man of wide reading and attainments—perhaps the most versatile man in the world, a man who possessed a most alert mind, a remarkable memory and the keenest observation; a man who was not generous in nature and yet was at times considerate of others; a man of charming personality and amiability. It would have shown a man of unparalleled egotism, a man who was impatient of correction and who would brook no opposition. There might have been in the picture a suggestion of the dire lengths to which the man would go to have his way, but it would have been only a suggestion.

As far as it went, the picture would have been accurate, but it would have been sadly incomplete—with all the lights worked in but lacking all the shadows.

It took the war and its attendant horrors to reveal the kaiser in his true colors. The war did not change his character; it uncovered it.

Early in my practice I happened to mention to the kaiser that I appreciated the friendliness he showed me in invariably waving his hand at me as he passed my window when walking along the Tiergarten.

"It's a good advertisement for you, Davis," he said. "The people see me waving to you and they know you must be a good dentist or I wouldn't come to you. It will help your business!" In every act, he was conscious of the public.

During that period of my career in Berlin, he showed the utmost interest in my progress and frequently inquired how my practice was developing.

The first bill I rendered him, as I have mentioned, he doubled. On a number of subsequent occasions, he paid me more than my bill called for. These overpayments never amounted to very much, but they impressed me because they were so out of keeping with the stinginess the kaiser displayed in other directions.

From time to time the kaiser sent or brought me autographed pictures of himself or others. At the time of the one hundredth anniversary of Frederick the Great, he gave me a picture of that monarch. On another occasion, he presented me with a group picture of himself surrounded by his family and dogs. I remember his bringing to me a large unframed picture in celebration of his silver wedding. It was about twenty-four by eighteen inches in size. It showed the kaiserin and himself in a sort of cloud floating above a birdseye view of Berlin, with the palace and the cathedral dimly seen below.

At the Theatres

THE PARAMOUNT.

"OPPORTUNITY."—Viola Dana, the winsome star of "Blue Jeans," is appearing today at the Paramount in the Metro six act super-feature "Opportunity." This picture is a little different from Miss Dana's former productions but only in a way to make it more famous and entertaining than those she has appeared in before. This picture is a comedy and is a field Miss Dana is unrivalled in. The picture contains numerous exciting and interesting features, one scene especially which shows the interior of one of New York's greatest athletic clubs in which the thrilling boxing bouts between professionals take place. The picture is heart-appealing and absorbing and literally tingles with suspense which all blend into the scenes that fairly bubble with laughter. "Opportunity" is a sparkling comedy in six acts, full of laughter and wit, with a deep underlying note of romance. Viola Dana is seen at her best as Mary Willard, the idol of her father who has given her her way in everything and consequently she desires the impossible—she wishes to be a boy. How she gets around this difficulty and accomplishes her desire is cleverly shown in the play. She is ably supported by Hamilton Hale. A Charley Chaplin comedy will complete the bill. Tuesday William A. Brady presents Ethel Clayton in "The Woman Beneath."

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"SHARK MONROE."—In describing "Shark Monroe, the leading character in his latest picture story of the same name, in which William H. Hart is starred in an Artcraft picture produced under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince, C. Gardner Sullivan, the author, says: '"Shark Monroe!" The name was known from Puget Sound to the Lynn channel; Nome to the Aleution Islands, and everywhere it was synonymous with the word "ferocious." In a land of hard men Monroe was a master, and many were the fearful tales told of him and his fleet-heeled sealing schooner, "The Gull."'

THE ARCADE.

The attraction at the Arcade theatre this week promises to uphold the excellent quality of shows that have been playing the Arcade theatre the past few weeks. It is the "Modern Lovemakers," produced by the Ferbers company. This company carries two blackface comedians that are bound to please. The company carries their own special scenery and the wardrobe is beautiful. The chorus is well trained, and the cast as a whole are real artists. On the screen will be seen the opening chapter of a new serial that promises to be equally as interesting as the Helen Holmes serial finished last week, that is, "The House of Hate, featuring Pearl White and Antonio Moreno.

WEALTH PUT IN BONDS HASN'T BEEN MISSED

America Has Not Begun Yet to Really Sacrifice to Lend to Boys.

BY DELLA THOMPSON LUTES
Author of "My Boy in Khaki" and Editor of American Motherhood.

There is more than one way to fight. There are sea, land, air battles. There are also battles in the pantry, at the kitchen stove, and on the front piazza. Yes, there are even battles in the pocket book.

Unless every person left in America gets into the fight somewhere along the line, the soldiers at the front will have to fight just so much harder, just so much longer, lose so much more blood—give up so many more lives.

Of course the war might be won if you—just you did nothing to help. But when you read these words, a good many thousand others are reading them. So, if you laid down on the job to let the boys fight for you, and every other you of thousands did the same thing, who would feed the boys who are fighting? Who would clothe them, nurse them, entertain them, munition them?

In America there is plenty of money—yet, even though billions of dollars have been raised since we entered the war. The money already raised could be spared as well as not. We have not yet learned to go without in order that we may loan our money to the boys. Uncle Sam handles it, but it goes to the boys. Into the equipment for them, clothes and blankets to make them comfortble, od guns and ammunition to save their lives—and ours.

It is not our fault that there is war. We went in because a decent man cannot stand by and see a bully beat a weaker creature to death, violating every rule of the game.

And now that we are in it we must fight to the last ditch to rid the world of the horrid monster which brought this cataclysm of blood and death upon us. We must fight to the last ditch, and to the last man—and woman.

The men who plow and sow and raise more produce are fighting.

The men who work in factories and shops and ship yards are fighting.

The men and women who work in government offices are fighting.

The women who stay at home are fighting—if they play a square game.

Every person who buys a Liberty Bond is fighting. Some are fighting harder than others because some sacrifice more than others in order to buy their bonds, but all are fighting.

The boys are giving up—everything. They need our help. They will fail if we fail them.

Pile Sufferers! Clever Ohio Chemist Says This Great Prescription Taken Internally Has Never Failed

Even chronic cases of 20 to 30 years standing, with profuse bleeding, have been completely cured in from three to ten days.

No discovery of recent years in the field of medicine has caused such a stir amongst the medical profession as the recent discovery that piles can be successfully treated and cured at home by a wonderful prescription known to druggists as Miro Pile Remedy.

It has been proved that so called external remedies applied or inserted into the rectum cannot cure piles and at the best only give temporary relief. This is also true of surgical operations which simply remove them after formation, but in no wise acts on the source of the trouble.

This prescription, although taken internally, is not digested in the stomach, but is rapidly passed on unchanged to the intestines in a short time, reaching the exact place where by its soothing, healing action, it first allays all inflammation and then by direct contact with all ulcers and piles, causes them to heal and disappear forever.

It's positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two or three days at most even in cases with profuse bleeding that have resisted all known treatments and operation, really wonderful results have been accomplished.

The author of this amazing discovery desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Miro Pile Remedy does entirely conquers even in the worst cases and he has instructed druggists all over the country to guarantee it in every case of blind, bleeding or protruding piles.

IMPORTANT: What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription.—Adv.

Those Famous Boots of Charlie's Are to Be Put to the Kaiser

TO HELP in the great work of "putting the boots" to the Kaiser, Charlie Chaplin has donated his funny old boots And with the boots, of course, go Charlie and his cane and his kicks and his wriggles. He is among the stars of the motion picture industry who have donated their services for the making of a series of motion picture films which will be used throughout the Fourth Liberty Loan drive in every theater in the United States

No star in the country who has ever been a topliner will be left out. All have expressed a willingness to play a part in the game of helping sell bonds. Scenarios for the Liberty Loan pictures were written by the best known editors of the country and by the best talent in the motion picture studios. Every picture will not only contain the plea for purchase of Liberty Bonds but will be an interesting story in itself.

CHARLES CHAPLIN.

During the three weeks of the drive—September 28 to October 19—a different picture will be shown in each movie house in the country each night. Three thousand copies of the pictures will be in constant circulation.

INDUSTRIAL FURNACES TO BE INSPECTED WITH VIEW TO SAVING FUEL

Estimated That 3,000,000 Tons of Coal Can be Saved By Better Methods of Firing.

The United States Fuel Administration announces the complete organization of the industrial furnace sections ,bureau of conservation, to handle fuel conservation in all furnaces with the exception of those operated for the production of power, heat, and light This includes those such as the clay-products industries

This section is in charge of an experienced engineer who has under his immediate supervision 13 districts comprised of 31 states, covering the territory in which industrial furnaces are used Each district has a local head who has in his organization an advisory board and a corps of inspecting engineers.

The newly appointed district chiefs met at the Fuel Administration Building today for a conference with A. F Greaves Walker, the chief of the section. The district chief made report based on a preliminary survey of each district Their conservative estimates of probable annual savings was 3,000,000 tons of coal

A standard questionnaire is being furnished each plant owner in advance of the inspection which he will fill out and hold for the inspector The rating of each plant will be based upon the efficiency with which fuel is used All wasteful burning processes will be taken into account, but an opportunity for correcting wasteful conditions will be given before inspection Recommendations will accompany each questionnaire, several items of which will apply to each and every plant, and if followed will improve conditions materially The inspecting engineer will be will be in a position to make further recommendations to each owner after inspecting his plant.

The clay products, lime, cement, and glass industries will be inspected first.

Confluence.

CONFLUENCE Aug 24—The many friends of T R Edgar will be sorry to learn that he is not improving any from his long seige of severe illness.
